MAKE ★ DREAMS come true

catalog

My father, founder of the company, is a man of vision and realizing dreams.

20 years ago, he dreamed of manufacturing play facilities for children, but even he couldn't have imagined where we are today. From a company that began with one man and as a small family business, we have expanded and grown to become the largest and leading playground manufacture in Israel.

Everything we do comes from the heart and you, our clients, feel it just as we do. We accompany every project from the very earliest stages of planning, through the formulations and precision of the dream, through to the final installation and handing the playground over to the client.

The values that guide us at Psagot Playgrounds are first and foremost service, integrity and responsibility, in tandem with producing quality at the highest possible level and inspiring international innovation.

Our children need open and challenging play areas. Researchers, occupational therapists and emotional therapists refer us parents to the public playgrounds, where our children can develop their muscles by climbing, crawling, running and jumping; strengthen the vestibular system responsible for balancing the body through swings, slides and carousels; cope with challenges and falls in a safe, protected environment, develop social skills in a natural way and delay immediate gratification when waiting in line for their turn.

I believe in social inclusion. Our play parks are the perfect place for including children with disabilities and special needs. To that end we develop our products while thinking of all potential users and invent innovative apparatus specifically for inclusion and maximum accessibility.

Our abilities as a manufacturing company to develop and produce playground equipment in accordance with your specific needs is a significant added value we have to offer you, and I invite you to make the most of this possibility. Our marketing, design, development, engineering and manufacturing departments will all go the extra mile for your project until you are completely satisfied with the results.

We'll be overjoyed to help you Fulfill your dreams too!

Yaniv Zeigler
Chief Designer

I believe that imagination is the best game for children, because it has the ability to generate a new and different experience for the child every single time.

When I plan new equipment, I try to look at it from the point of view of my children and thus pour the world of their content and imagination into my creation.

I am the father of three inspirations: Yonatan (7), Shir (5), and Raz (3), and married to Chava, an occupational therapist. Thanks to them I am more aware of the challenges children and youth face today, and can put the emphasis on a variety of different aspects when I'm planning play apparatus.

A word on receiving the Red Dot Award.

I always believed I was doing good work and even received much praise from clients and colleagues. This year, for the first time, I put my skills to the test, and to my joy I won one of the most important and prestigious competitions in the world of design: The Red Dot Award for Quality Product Design, out of 4,218 competitors from 48 countries.

As Chief Designer for Psagot Playgrounds, I want our clients to know they are receiving products of the highest quality and designed to the most stringent and advanced standards.

And I also believe that those who are already working with us know that already.

VP Marketing

We create a new dream every day.

Every boy and girl has a perfect playground they have already planned out in their head. With the longest slide in the world! In the shape of a snail!

The biggest seesaw ever, with room for all the children! And it will only be his or hers... The fastest carousel that won't make you dizzy. An ice-cream-shaped tower! Really, one you can actually eat! And most important, a floor like a carpet of candies! Like in Hansel and Gretel...

And what about you?

When was the last time you planned a playground?
After all, we all still have a little child in us...

I invite you to plan your dream playground with me. A park that today is in your head and in the minds of the cute kids we're working for. But tomorrow... it's reality!

We're always available for you, ready to provide you with answers and solutions to merge all your dreams into one successful plan.

Planning that includes all ages, from infants, to young children and youth, and of course the parents who also want to feel like children once again.

Planning that knows how to integrate the equipment and shades into the existing surroundings. Keeping a low landscape line or building high under multi-story buildings, spacious apparatus or apparatus sporting a unique concept.

Planning that knows how to accommodate people with special needs.

Planning from the heart that puts children in the heart of the park.

► Yael Steinberg
Architect

Our eyes are drawn to beauty, harmony and innovation.

That's why it's so important to me to pay particular attention to how play areas look and to make sure they blend in perfectly with their natural surroundings.

The main points that guide me in planning a playground are:

The client's dreams - it's important to hear what the client wants. For example, a themed park, an extreme section, or designing equipment especially for a specific area.

What is the age range of the children going to use the park? Low or tall apparatus? What kind of materials?

Accessibility - planning the area according to safety and accessibility standards, and general thought for the user experience, e.g. choosing the location for benches, shade, and the importance of maintaining eye contact between the child and the accompanying adult.

Profiling the area - urban or rural? In a built-up area, or in an open space? A big regional park or a small neighborhood one?

If the ground is composed of levels, I include special bridging in the planning, like climbing walls or a combination of apparatus that connects the different areas. If there are unusual elements in the area, like a water source for example. Or local animals, which I can express in how I choose and design the facilities.

Color - it's very important to choose harmonious colors that blend well with the facilities, the shading and the infrastructure, so that the park can transmit the message we want at first glance.

► Avidan Na'aman,
Machine Engineer,
Engineering Department Director

In my department we are committed to ensure that all raw materials used in manufacturing our facilities are safe, durable and completely non-toxic.

Every piece of equipment undergoes a characterization process, according to the age of the users, level of difficulty, how it is used and other technical data. After a comprehensive survey of all the characteristics, we choose the most suitable materials and begin to plan the equipment in accordance with the client's needs. We simulate all of the pieces on the computer and build a precise model of the actual facility.

And then we issue plans to the production department.

At Psagot Playgrounds we use many different materials: steel, aluminum, HPL, HDPE, rubber, wood, polyethylene ropes, and more. The wealth of materials creates new interest and a fresh challenge for every facility. To ensure the durability of the facility against the weather, we only use galvanized steel, and add another layer of powdered color prepared in a special oven.

The entire production process happens in our production plant in Psagot, and so we in the Engineering Department are able to accompany the products firsthand, confirm that all parts are suitable, check the final facility and confirm that every aspect of production abides by the most stringent requirements and standards and is exactly what the client requested.

Music is a wonderful tool that connects people.

It breaks down barriers of gender, language and age and creates a multicultural and unifying language.

We invite you to connect with the sounds in the open space, And create an innovative, welcoming, creative and unifying environment with musical instruments for the public space.

So how do we plan an integrated facility?

We invite you to put one together for yourself!
One that would be perfect for the area you have in mind.
Think about the materials, the design, the color,
the number of towers, levels and all the different elements.

1 Tower

Start by choosing the shape of the tower.
(You can combine different-shaped towers in the same area.)

Your choice of panels has a critical effect on how the area looks.
Do you want metal or HDPE (High Density Polyethylene)?
And from which series?

2 Panels

3 Roofs

The roof is prominent and already makes the park stand out from a distance. There are standard roofs, designed roofs, roofs that look open or closed, etc.

Bridges and tunnels of assorted materials connect the various towers in the park, for crawling or walking, along straight lines or perhaps sloped for added difficulty.

4 Bridges

5 Slides

Our playmates love the slides best! It's well worth including open and closed slides for different ages and some different types of closed slides for added fun and curiosity.

6 Climbing

The climb into the facility can be in different forms and with a number of challenging levels. The biggest facilities are also legally obligated to include an accessibility ramp.

7 Games

In all of our integrated facilities we pay great attention to the smallest details. Game boards are the perfect additions for enhancing children's play experience and developing their senses and skills.

Psagot Playground's production is Precise adaptation of materials to the climate.

Our facilities are spread all over the country,
and the quality of our materials
has proved itself over many years.

A huge range of colors in every type of material for the client to choose from.

All the materials are durable against the weather and vandalism.

With added burning-delay substances and protected against UV radiation.

All our materials are according to American standards, and we are in the process of getting our American certification.

With Psagot Playgrounds, stability, strength, robustness, color durability and resilience against
UV radiation damage are guaranteed.
